Business:

T.A. Morelock spoke about the agreement with the campgrounds

Tom Bell is the gentleman who was wanting to demo a building on the property he has. He was told that he needed to come before the Planning Commission.

P.C. Wimmer read the part in the U.D.O., where it stated coming to the Planning Commission to get permission to demo. There was a discussion. T.A. Morelock saw no reason for anyone to come before the Planning Commission to demo a building, unless it was an historic area or building. All Mr. Bell needed to do is get a demo permit from the Town.

President Johnson also asked the Planning commission to keep a watchful eye, due to there was residents making repairs on their homes without a building permit.
